Mailing Envelope Programs

WHAT ARE THE BENEFITS?

- Generates greater participation
- Tangible increase in revenue
- Individual personalization
- More flexibility

Monthly Mail

Each member of your congregation receives in their home twelve, six or four mailings a year containing contribution envelopes for that period of time. Special collection envelopes can also be included. All envelopes are printed with the contributor's name, address and church identification number.

Checkbook Style

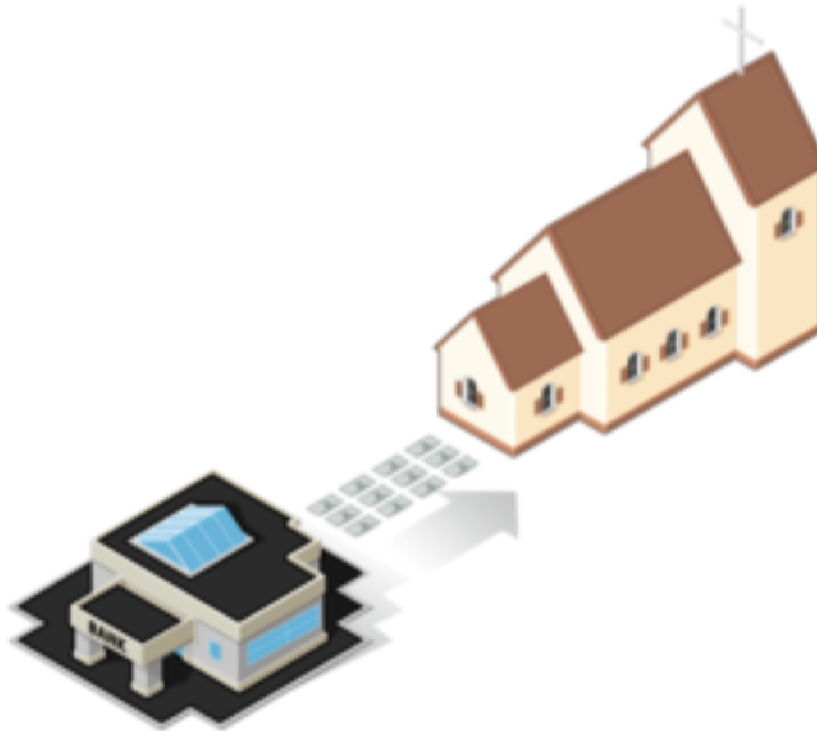

A business style envelope that allows congregants an option of either mailing their contribution or to participate in the normal church plate offering. The checkbook style also offers the congregant a running record of their contributions.

Mail Back Envelopes

The Mail Back envelope meets the requirements of the U.S. Postal Service. These envelopes are printed in a boxed set and can either be mailed or brought to church to participate in the normal church plate offering.

Electronic Funds Transfer

The Hubbard Press EFT Program

In an age of secured transactions, many congregations have asked for a service that allows for money to be collected electronically. The Hubbard Press's Electronic Funds Transfer (EFT) Program is designed to be convenient for the donor and supplies reliable income for the church. As an extra benefit, there's no minimum number of givers!

Congregations benefit from a system of regular support that reduces paperwork and avoids "catch-up" periods for members. Plus, compared to other companies offering similar services, The Hubbard Press's Electronic Funds Transfer (EFT) Program is especially economical.

When your congregation decides to participate in the EFT program, have members:

1. Decide on the amount of their monthly offering.
2. Fill in the Authorization Form and attach a sample check from their account, marked "SAMPLE" or "VOID."
3. Give the Authorization Form and sample check to the treasurer, designated officer, or place them in the offering plate.

Secured transactions and economical pricing combine to make The Hubbard Press's EFT Program the best choice for your congregation.
